Scripture

John 10: 1-10

Jesus said:

"Amen, amen, I say to you,
whoever does not enter a sheepfold through the gate
but climbs over elsewhere is a thief and a robber.
But whoever enters through the gate is the shepherd of the sheep.
The gatekeeper opens it for him, and the sheep hear his voice,
as he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.
When he has driven out all his own,
he walks ahead of them, and the sheep follow him,
because they recognize his voice.
But they will not follow a stranger;
they will run away from him,
because they do not recognize the voice of strangers."
Although Jesus used this figure of speech, they did not realize what he was trying to tell them.
So Jesus said again, "Amen, amen, I say to you,
I am the gate for the sheep.
All who came before me are thieves and robbers,
but the sheep did not listen to them.
I am the gate.
Whoever enters through me will be saved,
and will come in and go out and find pasture.
A thief comes only to steal and slaughter and destroy;

I came so that they might have life and have it more abundantly."

Our Scripture Reflection

Sheep are not the most intelligent critters in the animal kingdom. They need direction, care and above all, protection. Jesus is the One Who provides all that His "sheep" truly need. Jesus uses us to be His shepherds in this life. Think about it: Isn't it comforting when You encounter someone who lives a Christ-like life? Don't they lift your spirits and make you feel secure? We are, as disciples of Jesus, called to follow His example of being role models and "shepherds" who provide direction for others.

Food for your Journey

In his book Making Room for Life (2003), Randy Frazee recounts how a successful Christian businessman made a profound impact on his life. He writes:

I grew up in an unchurched home. When I became a Christian in 1974 at the age of 14, I had to make arrangements to get to church and back home by myself. The church was about a 20-minute drive from my house. If I wanted to come back for Sunday evening worship, which I always did, it made the most sense to stay at the church all afternoon or to go home with a family that lived near the church. There was one particularly gracious Italian family that invited me to their house almost every Sunday for a great meal — usually pasta and salad. The father was a successful independent grocer who had many tales of buying and selling produce that captured my attention.

At dinnertime we would all gather around the table, and he would "say grace." This was a new experience for me. This successful man would bow his head and humbly thank God for providing the food we were about to eat. I had never heard of such a thing. It seemed to me that he had worked very hard to get to where he was and that he should take all the credit. However, he humbled himself in the presence of his family and declared his gratitude to God. There were times when everyone else's head was bowed and eyes were closed, and I'd look up and stare at him. I desperately wanted to grow up and be like him. I wanted to raise a family and demonstrate God's love and protection on our family, just as this father did.

Well, I've been married to his beautiful daughter now for over 20 years, and I see it as a great honor each night to say grace to God on behalf of my family of six.

A Prayer from the Heart

Precious Lord, Deepen my faith so that I may live the life You expect me to live as Your disciple. In doing so may I be a role model to others and a guide in living the Christian life. Amen
